Mid-East Crisis, Tension Mounts

by Pierre J. Huss

UNITED NATIONS, N Y —(INS)—The rising Palestine crisis and the Suez Canal problem moved toward a showdown today as Dag Hammarskjold pressed diplomatic efforts to prevent war in the Middle East.

The U. N. Secretary General conferred urgently with British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd prior to his departure for London on the "serious situation" involving Israel, Jordan and Iraq. Hammarskjold appealed to Lloyd at the same time for an early meeting with Egypt on Suez in accord with the unanimous decision of the Security Council Saturday for a negotiated settlement.

THE SWEDISH GLOBAL diplomat also was in contact with Jordanian envoy Abdul Monem Rifai, who formally requested an early meeting of the Security Council to take punitive action against Israeli for its Oct. 11 reprisal raid into Jordan which cost 66 lives.

The 11-nation council probably will meet Thursday on the incident.

Rifai charged that the attack, which was in retaliation for the earlier slaying of Israelis, constituted a "premeditated" act of aggression and threatened peace and violated the U. N. chartr.

HAMMARSKJOLD was closeted with Lloyd at the latter's suite in the Hotel Waldorf-Astoria for the start of allday discussions with Western and Arab representatives on both the Palestine and Suez aspects of the Middle East problem.

The Secretary General took the unusual step of calling personally on Lloyd for the meeting at which thy discussed "a number of other matters" including debate by the General Assembly next month on the Cyprus dispute.

Hammarskjold's early morning meeting with Lloyd indicated the U N Chief's concern with the Middle East and the close parallel between the new Arab-Israeli unrest with the problem of free passage through the Suez Canal.

U. N. Diplomats said the two problems actually were indistinguishable and that any critical developments with one will affect the other. Thus any move by Iraq to send troops into Jordan over Israeli opposition undoubtedly would have repercussions along the Egyptian frontier and affect the Suez problem.

Labor Voters To Go GOP Nixon Forsees

by Thomas J. Foley

TOLEDO, Ohio,—(INS)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon predicted today the Republican Party will capture more labor votes this year than in 1952 because it is the party of "high employment, high wages, real security and peace"

Barnstorming by plane and car through Ohio's industrial centers, Nixon said the last four years have "completely destroyed" what he said were the impressions Adlai Stevenson and former President Harry S. Truman tried to create in 1952 that a GOP administration would bring hard times.

THE VICE PRESIDENT said America's laboring man backs President Eisenhower because Mr. Eisenhower considers every American "to be an individual with God-given dignity and not simply a cipher who is part of a class or a mass"

In a speech prepared for delivery in Toledo's Courthouse Square, Nixon said wage earners would not risk their jobs and security by changing to a "Stevenson administration which offers only a return to the Truman policies which in 20 years failed to produce prosperity except in wartime."

Earlier, in a breakfast rally of Dayton Republicans, Nixon said the Democratic Presidential candidate's program "is the same as the Truman program."

Mark E. Peterson Scheduled Speaker

Mark E Petersen, member of the Council of the Twelve, Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, is scheduled as speaker on the regular Tuesday morning devotional

One of the Church' foremost speakers, Elder Petersen is also a prominent newspaperman. He is presently chairman of the board of directors of the Deseret News and Salt Lake Telegram in Salt Lake City.

Devotional is scheduled to begin at 11 a.m. in the Smith Fieldhouse.

Campaign Push Urged for Demos

Young Democrats were urged to promote a broad campaign at their organizational meeting last week

Speakers who encouraged the project were Utah County Campaign Chairman Robert Strong and David Greenwood.

The organization is under the leadership of Zack Price. Cross Roads, Calif president, Jean Anne Waterstradt, Ogden. vice president, Carma Green, American Fork, secretary and Jim Christensen, Spanish Fork, treasurer.

Presidency to Discuss Pres. Wilkinson's Illness

The presidency of the Brigham Young University has scheduled a special faculty meeting for Tuesday at 4:30 p. m. in the Joseph Smith auditorium.

The purpose of this meeting is to report on the state of President Wilkinson's health and on how the university is functioning in his absence.

A report on this meeting will be carried in Thursday's Daily Universe.

Auto Slips Readied For Out of Staters

Student certification letters for drivers of out-of-state motor vehicles are now being issued by the Registrar's Office.

These letters should be taken to the Utah State Tax Commission office in the City and County Building, along with the registration certificate to obtain non-resident permits, required by Utah State law, according to Capt. Leonard E. Christensen, Brigham Young University security officer.

Glen Canyon Dam Gets 1st Detonation By Remote Control

GLEN CANYON, Ariz —(INS)—Preliminary work on the $421 million Glen Canyon Dam project got underway today when Pres Eisenhower detonated a dynamite charge by remote control from Washington that tore tons of rock from the Colorado River Gorge in Northern Arizona.

The ear-shattering blast loosened rock that a diversion tunnel may be built to carry the Colorado river around the site where the 700-foot dam will be consrtucted

THE DAM is part of the $760 million Upper Colorado River project which also authorizes the building of a dam at Flaming Gorge on the Green River in Northern Utah The Development is the largest reclamation project ever authorized by Congress at one time.

Hundreds of spectators, newsmen, public officials and construction. engineers watched the site, about six miles south of the Arizona-Utah border.

Mr Eisenhower pressed a telegraph key in Washington to touch off the blast and talked by special telephone with reclamation officials at the site.

Bulky-Knit Sweaters Tops for Campus Wear

by Margaret Hunter
Daily Universe Writer

Contrasting last year's slim leath look is the bloused silhouette which is partly brought about by the use of the bulky-knit sweater.

Popular in style for casual campus wear is the field jacket sweater. This is a cardigan with a flat heavy rib and large collar. Often it is worn over a color-matched or silk shirt.

Cable knitting gives uniqueness to the design. It can be seen in a double row on each side of the center opening, on the collar, or down the sleeves.

Popular slim skirts are given emphasis by the blousing at the waist of the cardigan sweaters. Ribbing or elastic insures this necessary blousing.

A costume look is often achieved by the use of a matched sweater and dress. The sweater is made of a popcorn or other open stitch.

Chunky pull-overs are also very fashionable.

Different collars characterize these sweaters. Besides the classic plain neck are large shawl collars, oversized turtle necks with loose or shaggy ends, button-up turtle necks, shirt-type collars, and tab collars.

Cable stitching is also used in this pull-over type. One interesting sweater is a solid color or with a bright contrasting cable down each arm.

Hooded sweaters are again fashionable. Hoods often times roll down into large bulky turtle neck collars when not in use.

Fall field colors lead in popularity. Browns, tans, oranges, and especially herb greens are often seen. Sunset colors are a second.

Bright red and white are also given emphasis this season. Wool or orlon are the leading fibers used. Angora, rabbit's hair, lamb's wool, and cashmere are often added to the wool.

Care for the wool sweaters is made surprisingly easy by the use of cold water soap.

Cougars Sharpening Claws For Crucial Meeting With Montana

by Jerry Cunningham
Daily Universe Sports Writer

HAROLD Kopp will take his Brigham Young University football machine to Missoula, Mont., this Saturday.

Having run out of gas in the final period of the Utah contest, the Cougar grid apparatus has received a thorough overhaul. BYU having drawn a bye last Saturday, Coach Kopp and his aides were grateful for the extra week in which to condition the Cougars for a tough fight with Montana.

THE COUGARS realize that this is their big chance to break the win column. But the Grizzlies, smarting from four straight setbacks, will be no easy conquest.

Comparative scores, along with information from the Grizzly camp, point to a close contest, indicating that Montana will be tough to beat. For one thing, Montana gave Utah some anxious moments while losing 25-6. The Utes wore the Cougars out, 41-6.

PAPER MIGHT give Montana a slight edge, but nobody is selling BYU short, least of all Coach Kopp and the team. The spirit of improvement motivates the Cougars.

When fresh, the Cats have displayed a formidable defense. Their offense has improved substantially with each game; against their last and toughest foe, the Cougars showed their best ground attack.

LIKE THE Cats, Montana has shown a lack of depth in recent games. For three quarters last Saturday their tough defense held the Utah Aggies at bay, along with their triple-threat star, Jack Hill. Out of gas in the final period, Montana finally succumbed as the Aggies scored twice to win 27-13.

And like the Cougars, Montana has a new coach with revolutionary ideas. Preseason polls last year unanimously elected Montana for the cellar. Coach Jerry Williams guided the Grizzlies to sixth place in his first year of coaching.

WILLIAMS wants to improve that position. But with just four conference games left, he'll have to polish off BYU to do it.

The Cats are anxious to avenge last year's 13-27 drubbing by Montana. And Coach Kopp wants the Cats out of the cellar; whipping Montana could do it.

Says Williams about his team this year, "Skyline foes will find the Grizzlies stronger in about every position. This is the first time since I have been at Montana that the situation looks a little bright."

For the very best bargains you'll find in town—Jack's car prices are way, way down. He sells them cheap, but they are good. See him soon, you really should! Phone FR 3-9148

More 'Mural' Play to Begin

Last Friday the annual Brigham Young University singles tennis tournament opened on the BYU courts. The tournament will continue through the process of single elimination until a winner has been decided.

Participants are advised to check regularly the bulletin boards to see the time and court that they are assigned. One forfeit in this tournament and the individual is dropped from play.

The intramural department announces October 16 as the deadline to file entries for the singles badminton tournament. Equipment for participation in the badminton tourney will be furnished by the department.

Men interested in the horseshoe singles tournament should show their desire to participate by filing entry not later than October 23.

The annual cross country run is scheduled this year during the halftime of the BYU-Wyoming football game. The winner of this event will be awarded the Dr. H. G. Merrill trophy.

Deadline for filing entry for this event is November 16.

Daily Universe Sports Write

THE STAGE is set for t Utah- Wyoming football gai Saturday afternoon at Laram

Both Utah and Wyoming ha played three Skyline Confe ence games and both squa have won all three encounte which hints that the winner this clash will probably be t team to win the Skyline crow

Over the week-end Wyomi defeated New Mexico, 20-1 while Utah was taking the me sure of Denver, 27-14. Colora dumped Colorado A&M in Rocky Mountain intersectior battle, 47-7. Brigham You University was idle.

WYOMING'S win over Ne Mexico was sparked by the ru ning of Jim Crawford. Crawfo also added the Cowboys two e tra points.

In Utah's win over Denv the Redskins started slow, b built up a 21-0 third peri lead, which appeared to ha clinched the game for the Re skins.

However, the Pioneers ca back with two straight touc downs to pull within 8 poi of the Utes. Merrill Dougl put the game on ice for his Ut teammates in the fourth quart when he dashed 52 yards f Utah's final touchdown.

UTAH STATE'S powerf running attack proved too mu for Montana, as the Farme spoiled the Grizzlies' homeco ing with their 27-13 victory.

However, the Aggies' passi attack was far from unsucce ful as State quarterback B Winters kept the Montana d fense guessing with his expe passing arm.
